The English Etruria Wedgwood and the Etruscans Etruscan
May 1st, 2020 - the English Etruria Wedgwood and the Etruscans

Josiah Wedgwood 1730–1795 founded his Staffordshire pottery in 1769 and named it Etruria for the land of the Etruscans. Nothing could have been more appropriate given that the chief source of figural bucchero pottery represents a key source of information about the Etruscan civilization used by elites at banquets. Bucchero demonstrates the tendencies of elite consumption among the Etruscans: the elite display at the banqueting table helped to reinforce social rank and to allow elites to advertise their achievements and status of themselves and their families.
